Dear Mr Tan,

T.C. KHOO & CO (PTE) LTD

We learnt from some members of our Association that T.C. Khoo & Co (Pte) Ltd is expanding its business and is attempting to acquire the factory premises vacated by T.T. Garment Processing Finishing (S) Pte Ltd at 35 Senoko Way, Woodlands East.

As we understand it, the company's services include primarily dyeing, washing and other finishing processes as well as chemical treatments, in particular, pigment dyeing of finished garments. The list of the company's clients includes Wing Tai Manufactory, Tung Mung International, J.C. Penney, Sing Lun & Co., Rose Textile Industries, F.Y. Singapore Garments and Tai Wah Knitting, all export-oriented member companies of our Association.

The service provided by T.C. Khoo is indeed a very important segment of manufacturing in today's fashion and garment industry. Total business approach involving quick response to market situation, reliable service and delivery and special niches to meet the various requirements of the consumer markets locally and overseas is the challenge facing the manufacturers in Singapore to maintain their international competitiveness.

The technology in pigment dyeing that T.C. Khoo & Co possesses, being amongst the first in this region, is in fact the special niche developed by the company. It has not only helped the company to improve its competitive advantage but has only helped to reinforce Singapore as an important service centre.

The Association shares the same vision and works towards the common goal with the Board and other government departments for Singapore to become the regional centre in the sourcing, distribution, servicing and marketing of quality garment products. Concerted efforts from both the government agencies and private sectors would be required for this to materialize. The role played by supporting industries such as the types of services provided by T.C. Khoo & Co would form part and parcel of the contribution needed to turn vision into reality.

In this respect therefore, we fully support the expansion plan mapped out by T.C. Khoo & Co and shall appreciate it very much if the Board could give a favourable consideration to the company's application to acquire the factory premises at 35 Senoko Way, Woodlands East.

Thank you for your attention in this matter.

Yours sincerely,

Paul Ho
Executive Director
